Event set Saturday for Alzheimer’s caregivers

LINDSBY

For those caring for someone with Alzheimer’s disease, caregivers can look forward to a free half-day conference in La Jolla Saturday.

“The event is not unlike a conference for caregivers of Alzheimer’s patients, but it’s specifically tailored to caregivers of younger people with dementia,” said Amy Abrams, education and outreach manager for Alzheimer’s Association San Diego North County.

“A primary focus is the heartbreak of memory loss. Caregivers for these and other changes is the subject of a free half-day conference in La Jolla Saturday.”

P.F. Chang’s faces new sex harassment cases

SANDIEGO

Two women working at P.F. Chang’s in Chula Vista said they were sexually harassed by their direct supervisor.

They claimed they were repeatedly sexually harassed at work, including having their chests touched and receiving sexual comments from their supervisor.

The women filed complaints with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission against the company, saying they were sexually harassed.

P.F. Chang’s spokesman told The San Diego Union-Tribune that the company would review the complaints.

The company did not immediately provide a comment.

“P.F. Chang’s provided a statement in response to The Seattle Times’ April 2018 report and to the New York Times’ May 2018 report,” the company said.

“Aside from that, we’re not sure what P.F. Chang’s is committed to providing a workplace free of harassment. We’re confident that we’ll be able to rely on the company’s commitment to providing a workplace free of harassment.”
